Cox Business/Hospitality Network increases end-user value by doubling wired internet speeds at Las Vegas Convention Center

LAS VEGAS – Cox Business/Hospitality Network, a provider of telecommunications to the commercial services and gaming-resort verticals, announced that it is doubling the speed of three tiers of its wired internet packages available to exhibitors, show management and other users at the Las Vegas Convention Center. While the internet speed is doubling, there will be no additional costs for the faster service, creating an immediate value to end-users of the wired high-speed Internet product. The speed doubling takes effect immediately.

“As the provider of Advanced Convention Services, Cox Business is extremely pleased to implement a no-cost speed increase at the Las Vegas Convention Center.” said Derrick Hill, vice president of Cox Business/Hospitality Network in Las Vegas. “This implementation enhances value for convention exhibitors and elevates the attractiveness of the Las Vegas Convention Center as a top-tier convention destination for trade shows with their ever increasing demand for robust internet technology.”

“We are excited to offer our trade show partners and their exhibitors and delegates high-speed wired internet service that allows them the ability to conduct critical business on the show floor twice as fast as before,” said Terry Jicinsky, senior vice president of operations for the Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority (LVCVA). “As the No. 1 trade show destination in North America, we’re committed to staying ahead of our competition by providing the latest technology and exceptional customer service that helps our clients improve their business and tradeshow experience.”

The speed increases will involve three tiers of wired internet in both the “shared bandwidth” and “dedicated bandwidth” service tiers. Five of the service tiers are being increased by 100 percent while the tier offering 10 Mbps of dedicated bandwidth will be augmented by 125 percent to 25 Mbps.
